He has also brought back all the other improved batteries and electrical appliances, as well as all of the new surgical instruments and remedies, a great many of which are not to be found in any achier office in the whole southwest. The doctor has six different batteries altogether, each and every one the latest and best manufactured. A call at the obseter's office will convince the most skeptical that the above statement J. H. FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 10 .- This afterno the county alms-house, situated at Sugar creek, four miles north of this city, was creek, four miles north of this city, was destroyed by fire. There were some terrible scenes enacted at the fire. There were 100 inmates of the institution, many of them helpless, and the rescue of these poor creatures was accomplished with great difficulty. Had it not been for the prompt, vigorous and courageous methods alopted, there would have been many lives lost. The ground was covered with snow and a bitterly cold wind was blowing. The flip clad pampers, many of them teeble and alting, suffered dreadfully. There were many narrow escapes from a horrible death in the burning building. Mrs. Culp, wife of the superintendent, was very ill, and it is thought that the shock, excitement and exposure will kill her. The building was valued at $200,000 and was insured for $56,000. THE PRESIDENT-ELECT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Cheerfulness per-vaded the home of President-elect Cleve land today, though the weather without was cheerless in the extreme. The apartments in which the past and future mis-tress of the White House rules supreme were redolent with the odor of flowers, the gifts of the successful candidate's admiring friends miring friends.

Robert O'Brien, Mr. Cleveland's private secretary, said this afternoon that Mr. Cleveland had at first intended to address a letter to the voters of the country, giving his views on politics, but that this project had been abandoned. Mr. Cleveland has also decided not to allow any telegrams or letters of congratulation to be published. Mr. O'Brien said that the number of these messages already exceeded 2,000, and that the stream showed no sign of dimination. Among the senders, he asserted, were almost every Democrat of prominence in the country and a good many Republicans. Mr. O'Brien ascribes Mr. Cleveland's action in withholding the messages from the public to the influence of Mrs. Cleveland.

NEW YORK. Nov. 10 .- Whitelaw Reid remained at Ophir farm all day. While greatly disappointed at the success of the Democrats, Mr. Reid said that his own de-"Evidencity the whole Republican party does not approve of the protective policy," he said. The fact that the disaster had not been confined to one or two doubtful states, but had extended to California, Illinois and Wisconsin, he thought clearly showed that it was due to a lendency affecting the party throughout the country. Obviously many Republicans thought the tariff had gone too far. In view of this It was probably best that the Democratic actory was complete. Mr. Reid says that he has no intention of enering inhibic life again.

Mr. Reid says that he has no intention of entering public life again.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Secretary Jeremlah M. Rusk, on his way back to Washington after voting for Harrison in his home in Wisconsin, was in Chicago today.

"We were cleaned out, that's all there is about it," said he, referring to Thesitay's election. "In my opinion the tariff is the whole and sole cause of it. The reform spirit is growing and the result has been a clean sweep."

Sr. Louis, Nov. 10.-An effort to learn how the populists look at Tuesday's re-sults was made by an Associated Press re-

Chairman Carter said that all calculations, both by the Republicans and Democrats, had been at fault in this state and also throughout the country, and yet these calculations had been made by some of the most experienced, ablest and shrewding result was reached: Total rote, minus that, with the returns missing from twenty districts, in which the result is either ocrats in any proposed reduction of tariff taxes. Their support, with the additional strength the Democrats are certain to derive from securing some of the twenty districts put in the unknown column, make it a conseventive estimate that the Democrats will have a majority of 100 members or more on the most important question likely to come before the next house, viz., the revision of the Mc-Kinley tariff law. A number of the fusionists are also thoroughly in accord with the Democratic policy as far as it goes on all other questions. Three out of the five fusionists elected in Kanssa are also simply Democrats of what might be called the radical wing of the party. Leaving out the twenty unknown districts, the next house will consist of 207 Democrats, 120 Republicans and 9 fusionists or third party men.

120 Republicans and 9 fusionists or third party men.

The strong probability of an extra session of congress, immediately following the inauguration of the president-elect, is the subject of general conversation in Washington today. A special session of the senate is always called at the beginning of a new administration to confirm the members of the cabinet and new diplomatic representatives of the United States abroad. But the present election having turned on questions of domestic policy it is said to be obvious by experienced political leaders of all parties that an extra session of both houses will almost inevitably result. Secretary of the Treasury Foster, among others, admits this. The Republicans, he says, challenged the judgment of the country on the McKinley bill, and the result must be accepted as the will of the people that a different policy shall be put into effect.
